Brain Type	Quantity
 TV News Commentator            These brains are charming to look at, but provide very little actual substance. Perfect for zombies who are dieting.
 Actor/Actress            These brains have been drenched in emotion on a regular basis, making them flavorful and succulent.
 Businessperson            The zombie equivalent of veal, these brains have never been used for heavy thinking of any kind. They are also largely devoid of emotion, making them the most tender of all brain types.
 Engineer/Scientist            These brains are tough, having been used far too much. So they're priced to move! They're perfect for zombie foot soldiers, being a very economical choice.

Putrescent Odor Complaint Form

We take putrescence very seriously. In order to serve your needs most expeditiously, please fill out this form completely, in triplicate (all originals, please. No carbon copies, photo copies, dittos, or mimeographs).

Return one copy to the facilities department, mail stop 83-16. Return the second copy to the enforcement bureau at mail stop 19-06.

Keep the final copy for your records. In the event of a dispute, this final copy will be carbon dated, to insure that it was, indeed, written at the same time as the other two forms.

Date of suspected putrescence
Location
Please describe the incident. What did you see, hear, taste, and, of course, smell at the time of the alleged complaint?
In the event that you were to vanish suddenly and mysteriously, please list any family members, friends, or co-workers who would notice your absence.

This one Here

Not Look the other way. No, seriously, look somewhere else. Maybe it's this one here? Not likely. Look elsewhere. There's nothing to see here. There is no man behind the curtain! Do you understand? He doesn't exist.

This There isn't a conspiracy. We know that for a fact. And it's not this one here. Now defocus your eyes, relax, and read the rest of this page slowly.

- It isn't this one here.
- This is not the page you're looking for.
- Your will is weak.
- Your body is strong.
- You are a zombie recruit.
- You will capture, detain, intimidate, kill, and drip on our enemies.
- That is your task.

One It's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either. And it's not this one, either.

Here If you're still reading this, you have serious problems. Have you ever thought about getting them checked out? Vision problems can be dealt with via optometrist. Your problems may be much more serious. Yours may be a psychological obsession with reading something to the end, even when you know that it's not this one here. I recommend you go do something more productive with your time. # The Six Trials to World Domination

This guide will help you take over the world. The first step is understanding that the world is a dangerous place. To take it over, you need to be more dangerous than it is. Since you, yourself, are part of the world, it makes this task very difficult. You must prove yourself in Six Trials, very much as a hero must prove herself. Only you're a villain, so entropy is on your side.

The Dark Lords will provide the Trials to the applicant who expresses a desire to start out along this path by filing form STA-666a at least 30 days before the winter solstice. The Six Trials take the form of Totally Horrible Apocalyptic Teasers ("T.H.A.T." for short). Though these sound like fun, they are anything but. These are the challenges that you must surpass in order to prove worthy of total world domination. They are hidden in envelopes, each discretely labeled, "This is where T.H.A.T. is."
